

The Wall of Success

As part of the event on 23 May we put the spotlight back on our TARAs and asked about their achievements and activities to build the “Wall of Success”. This is to showcase the activities organised across the city and also to share ideas and best practice.

The projects and activities were many and varied but there were some common themes.

Popular with a lot of TARAs were trips to the coast, markets and shopping.

Parties and celebrations around Christmas and Easter and summer fairs were also activities for many TARAs.

There are other activities around the environment with gardening competitions, community gardens and litter picks.

Social inclusion with activities for Children and Young People, Mother and Toddlers, Hampers at Christmas for some of our older generation.

Digital inclusion with computer lessons across the city. Community cohesion across our diverse communities with “Cooking around the World” and “healthy eating” and other cookery classes.

There have been successes with lottery funding around festivals and playgrounds, bringing in external money for events and improvements. The list covered almost two pages and this is only a brief summary but it is clear there are plenty of activities provided across our city.
